

At the heart of the financial markets

Connecting opportunities

Who we are

Community. Communications. Compliance.

The issues that matter most to you.

We empower the financial community to reliably navigate and capitalize on market developments. With IPC®, you can connect to the global financial community, exchange information and mitigate risks creatively, confidently and cost-effectively.

By combining our industry expertise, exceptional service and comprehensive, innovative technology, we assist clients in anticipating change so they can:

- Maintain constant market access and liquidity
- Stay ahead of the competition, control costs and improve return on equity
- Improve operational speed, productivity and efficiency

Most importantly, at IPC, we help you collaborate, solve business challenges and meet regulatory requirements – so you're right where you want your firm to be, ready to focus on connecting opportunities.

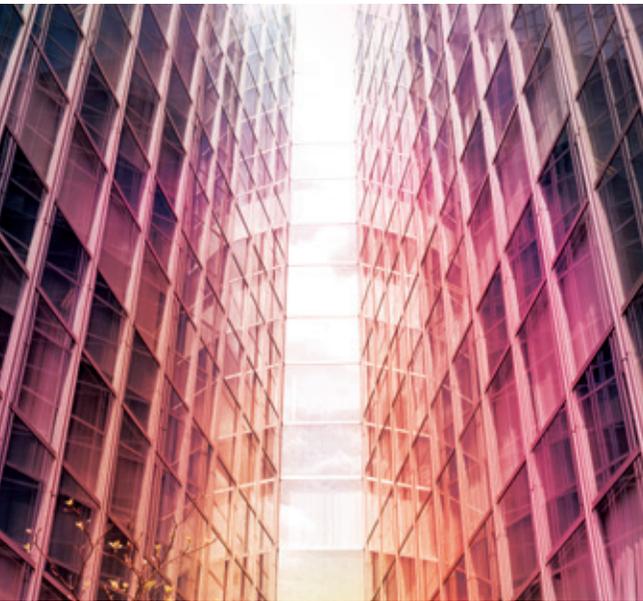

Our area of focus

Positioned at the heart of financial markets

We are 100% focused on serving the needs of the financial markets, where our roots go deep and our capabilities continue to expand.

Our accumulated expertise ranges from regulation, market structure and asset classes to technology and offering tailored solutions that are right for you.

- IPC operates one of the largest, most diverse and fastest growing Financial Markets Clouds in the world.
- We can facilitate services to more than 6,000 market participants in 700 cities in 60 countries across six continents.
- Our networking, software and interfaces help create productive interactions, deep client relationships and a competitive advantage.
- IPC, with its innovative compliance solutions, addresses capture, archival, retention and access to critical interactions, policy compliant operations, analytics and assurance services for proactive protection.

How we help

Connecting the global financial community

We tap into proven technologies to build connections and fuel collaboration.

- Use our converged-access platform to deliver critical applications to your counterparties and throughout your enterprise
 - Leverage our portfolio of solutions for information exchange and collaboration in the financial markets
 - Tap our flexible, cloud-based platform to power communications-enabling apps, solve compliance challenges, enhance mobility and enrich client interactions
 - Start engaging the larger ecosystem - including messaging, market data distribution and trading platform providers

How we help

Exchanging information

Access to real-time information and collaboration drives more productive client interactions - empowering you to drive forward profitable relationships.

- Implement collaboration capabilities tailored to the demands of financial markets participants
- Leverage extensibility and open integration – supporting your business with communication-enabled workflows, applications and endpoints
- Drive the highest level of internal and counterparty collaboration across front, middle and back offices
- Benefit from a global platform designed for anytime, anywhere access

How we help

Mitigating risk

We help to transform compliance from a regulatory obligation into a source of competitive advantage.

We interpret regulatory guidelines across the dynamic global landscape – then incorporate them into specialized compliance solutions for capturing, archiving, retaining and accessing critical interactions.

IPC designs solutions to support policy-compliant operations, reduce reputational risk and provide you with tools to analyze your interactions for deeper insights into patterns, trends and emerging challenges and opportunities.

- Benefit from solutions designed to deliver always-on reliability – even during peaks in market activity
- Gain advantages from our consultative, holistic approach for addressing communications-related regulatory requirements
- Tighten risk controls and enhance investigative efficiency for interactions
- Capture, protect and access regulated user communications
- Leverage analytics for proactive protection and productive insights
- Monitor proactively for non-compliance risks

The value that we provide

Creating compelling connections

Our ever-expanding client connections create an immensely valuable network for firms and individuals to engage with.

Through our global footprint, customers have access to the markets they need.

We continue to invest – adding more locations to our network and expanding our community.
